FOUR CANADIAN Sea Cadets had the greatest adventure of their lives this summer when they and their commanding officer sailed through England in a home-made launch they took all the way to England from their Northern Alberta home. In the above photo, the Canadian boys are shown on board their boat on their arrival at London after covering the distance from Liverpool by inland waterway. The boat, under the charge of Rev. J. E. McGrane, Roman Catholic priest from Lac la Biche, Alberta, was met in London by Captain A. D. H. Jay, DSO, DSC, RN, representing the Admiralty, shown greeting Father McGrane, and R. A. McMullen, Agent General for Alberta in London. The cadets of English, German, Ukrainian and French extraction and from Lac la Biche, are left to right: Jackie Wolstenholme, 17, Harold Klein, 16, Wilf Woychuk, 17, and Romeo Lebeuf, 15. $20,000 CNIB OCTOBER OBJECTIVE

The annual campaign of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind opened Oct. 1. The campaign, which will last through October, has an objective for Northern Alberta of $20,000. The purpose of the campaign is to obtain the funds necessary to satisfactorily maintain the service program of the CNIB during the coming year.

Referring to the campaign, Mr. W. E. Milton, executive officer for the CNIB, stressed the increasing demands upon the services and facilities of his organization and the steadily rising costs of operation. The CNIB is now serving 500 blind people in Northern and Central Alberta in addition to carrying on its prevention of blindness work. Its services include rehabilitation, training, job placement, employment, occupational work, home teaching, library, residence accommodation, recreation, welfare services, special concessions and personal service, and prevention of blindness. In order for these services to be maintained at their present level and in order for them to be kept available to those who depend upon the CNIB for them, the objective of the current campaign must be achieved.

Mr. Milton emphasized that the CNIB is conducting this annual appeal only in the rural districts of Northern and Central Alberta, and is not appealing directly to Edmonton citizens. In Edmonton the CNIB is a member of the Community Chest and obtains its Edmonton requirements from that source. While these two campaigns will be in progress at the same time they will not conflict with one another.

Rural citizens should give direct to the CNIB, while Edmonton citizens can help its work by supporting their Community Chest drive.

FOLLOWING an impressive display of talent at the St. Louis Flyers' training camp at North Bay, Ont., Phil Hughes, sensational Port Arthur goalie who starred for Toronto St. Michael's last year, was signed to a professional contract by the American league team.

Harvest Losses Increased

Once more the farmers have taken it in the neck from the weather. With only about 25 per cent of the harvest completed in Alberta, according to the provincial minister of agriculture. the winter seems to have swept down on the scene with temperatures as low as 24 above, and damp snow lodging on the fields.

Is it any wonder the farmers get disgruntled sometimes and feel like rebelling against their lot. But the farmers will not be the only ones to suffer. The general economy of the province will share the blow if this one-time promising crop is not garnered safely.

As far as the weather is concerned the ancient piece of cynicism, "we must weather the weather whether we want to weather the weather or whether or no!" expresses the fact, but a more general, enthusiastic support for the farmers in the job of getting their grain out of the field and into the elevators is due. So many years the situation is similar to the present that it might be a good thing if steps were taken by governments and provinces to enact measures that would insure an early or more speedy harvesting of the crops in the general interest.

Cheese Aids Prosperity

This month the dairy industry of Canada is celebrating its Cheese Festival. The purpose of this festival, it has been explained, is to encourage the consumption of this highly nutritious food among Canadians. It is demonstrated that cheese replaces meat with a valuable high protein substitute.

In the early days of Canadian history, since Confederation, the cheese industry was an important creator of the country's wealth and prosperity. Alberta's dairy commissioner, D. H. McCallum, says few people realize what cheese has done in the development of Canadian industry. Since 1860, when the first cheese factory was established in Oxford County, Ontario, there was a "boom" in cheese making and by the turn of the century, about 1,000 factories were operating.

Exports of cheese went chiefly to the United Kingdom, and they increased to such an extent that in 1900 they totalled over 200 million pounds. If Canada's huge cheese business could be restored to its former size with the British consuming public, what a boost national prosperity would get. But, the need for milk at home and the loss of former markets have reduced the wealth coming from cheese.

A New Bearded Wheat

Farmers in the prairie provinces will be able to test the qualities of a new variety of bearded wheat this year, according to reports from agricultural experts in Winnipeg. It is called "Lee" and is an American production said to be resistant to most varieties of rust. It is not, however, resistant to the new race of rust known as 15-B. Its milling and baking qualities are good and it is licensed for use in Canada. It has value as an addition to the present used varieties.

Farmers who would like to try Lee can get it as long as supplies last from the Dominion Labratory of Cereal Breeding, Fort Garry, Winnipeg, by making application for the amount they want.

Note and Comment

As is not unusual with public utilities, the Edmonton Transit System has been losing money. Besides, the employees are not satisfied with their present scale of wages and want more money. This is not a pleasant prospect for the thousands of Edmonton bus riders who will now be forced to pay more for their fares, further increasing their cost of living.

Go North, Young Homesteader

By T. W. PUE

Back in 1944, when I decided to come to Edmonton from Manitoba to live, I wrote to the Alberta Government for a map of the Northern half of the Province. I wanted to study the district around Edmonton. but found that the most Northern city in Canada wasn't on the map of the northern half of Alberta. In fact. half the province lies north of a line running 100 miles north of the Capital.

T. W. PUE

Coming back from a trip to Athabasca last week, I had dinner in the dining room of the Colinton Hotel, where I met a young man who travels for the Government inspecting Homestead properties. He told me a lot I didn't know about the agricultural possibilities of our northland.

Most people think that Canada's Northland — between the popularly known areas of the country and the ice-covered territories—is nothing but a vast wasteland.

But the fact of the matter is that there's all kinds of excellent farm land there . . . and the Government wishes that more adventuresome farmfolk would move into the area.

In Northern Alberta, for instance, an estimated three million acres of agricultural land lies a whole three hundred miles north of Edmonton. And good. fertile. land it is, too.

The officer in charge of the experimental substation at Fort Vermilion. in Northern Alberta. reports that in July of this year, crops of wheat, barley. and oats gave indication of producing much greater yields than in other parts of the country.

The officer—Victor J. Lowe—says that the wheat average was expected to be 35 bushels per acre . . . barley was to average forty bushels an acre . . . and oats a whopping seventy-four bushels an acre.

At the substation which Lowe heads, over the past ten years they've had an average of thirty-four and a half bushels per acre of wheat. Barley has averaged better than thirty-nine bushels per acre . . . and oats have run to seventy-two point four bushels per acre.

During the summer months, the long duration of sunlight is one of the major factors contributing to the excellent growth. And frosts are not considered a menace because the rate of growth permits harvesting of most tender crops before fall colds arrive.

Grains are not the only crops in the area.

Horticultural crops are normally grown in abundance, and there are very few limitations both as to types or species.

Bush fruits are also successfully grown, but tree fruits are still confined largely to the experimental station.

At the station, hardy varieties of apples, crabapples, plums, and cherry-plum hybrids have produced good quality fruit during recent years.

Cattle and swine are numerous . . . and most of the area's coarse grain is consumed by the livestock and subsequently marketed as animal products.

With the completion of a new bridge across the river at Athabasca, more settlers will be going in to take up farm lands within 150 miles of Edmonton, on the homestead basis.

This is an opportunity for young farm people from older settled areas of our province to push out into the northern areas where land is free and fertile.

The pioneer area is just beginning for half of our province.

Every Day Living

Most of us are inclined to complain and find fault when the going gets tough. Why this and why that? If the weather is cold why not wait until summer? If the day is hot enough to cause us to sweat we look for a shady spot and complain that the job may as well wait for a cooler day.

Some air force men had just been assigned to rebuild an air base when a severe blizzard struck the area. The resulting hardships prompted the inquiry: "Why should this job be necessary during the winter?" Then one day the men in the control tower received an alert call. Several transport planes returning men from overseas could not land at their designated base. Fuel was low. Could they land here? Because the men had been on the job, immediate clearance was flashed to the pilots. The big planes rolled down the runway to a safe landing. The men had one good answer to their question.

We all question the wisdom of certain assignments in life. At the moment we may not find the answer. Whether it be Joseph sold into Egypt, Philip sent to Gaza, or you in your present responsibility, Jesus gives the "clearance" at the Samaritan well—"to do the will of Him that sent Me."

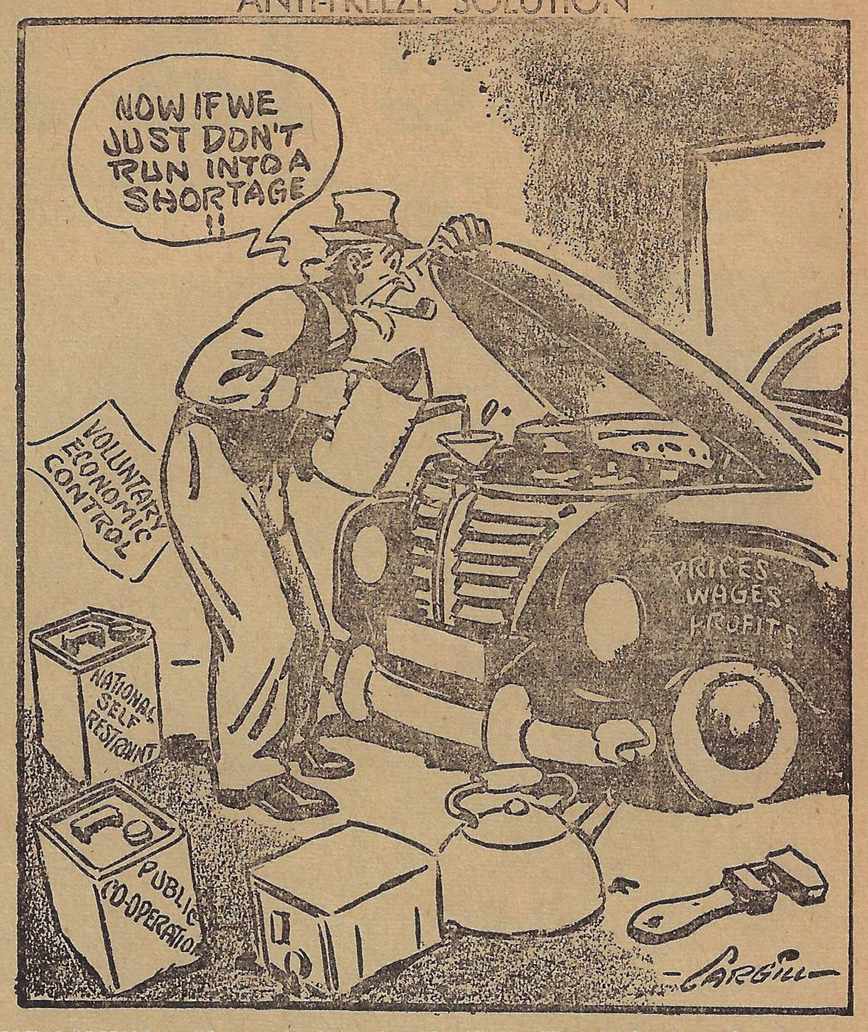

Our faith assures us that the overall plan of God contains the answer for us.

"Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me, and to finish His work."

Early Winter Stalls Harvesting As Grain Worth $300 Million Lost

Three hundred million dollars worth of grain is lying on the ground in Alberta with little prospect that it will be removed before spring, according to spokesmen for the Alberta Wheat Pool.

And Alberta farmers face the grim prospect of bigger spring than fall harvest for the first time in their history.

Agriculturists said spring harvests are not unusual because some part of the crop is left on the ground most years when winter takes hold. The grade of this grain is drastically reduced after it has lain under snow all winter, but the blow wasn't too hard to take because of the comparatively small amount.

This fall the picture is vastly different with farmers experiencing the worst harvest season in memory.

The result: Hardly one-third of the wheat, oats and barley has been harvested on an overall basis. Even if the current winter weather eases, agriculturists said, farmers will be lucky to get more than 50 per cent of the crop in before snow and cold settle down for good.

Early estimates of the Alberta crops were in bumper brackets, with wheat at 169,000,000 bushels, oats 129,000,000 bushels and barley 109,000,000 bushels.

If half of this total is harvested before winter, about 200,000,000 bushels will still be left on the ground for spring. The biggest spring harvest field crops commissioner A. M. Wilson could recall was 30,000,000 bushels.

Unmarried Mother At Mercy Of Court

An unmarried, 18-year-old expectant mother was given a one-year suspended sentence in police court in Edmonton on a vagrancy charge.

Her story began three years ago in a small town just outside Winnipeg. There she met up with poor company and due to a splurge of wild parties she lost her job.

Following this she went to Winnipeg where she met up with the father of her unborn child.

Three weeks ago she came to Edmonton in an attempt to straighten out, but her common-law husband followed her here.

Morality squad detectives said she would be looked after by the Salvation Army and the Provincial Child Welfare Department. The detectives will also find the girl a job.

A. W. Miller, a famous Edmonton criminal lawyer, will give an address in Regina Monday night entitled "Crime D-O-E-S Pay," contrary to popular belief.

Miller, who was born in Budapest—the capital of Hungary—was admitted to the Alberta bar in 1925. He has practiced in Edmonton ever since and has established a reputation as one of Canada's foremost criminal defence lawyers.

He will give his address to the Regina Women's Canadian Club as the club said his subject should be "thought-provoking."

Farmers, Not Mineral Companies, Hold Rights To Sand, Gravel On Land

Two Alberta farmers won the right to the sand and gravel on their land in the second phase of a long legal battle involving surface and mineral rights.

The appellate division of the Alberta Supreme Court unanimously upheld an appeal by farmers Joseph A. Gaumont of Fort Saskatchewan and J. W. Brown of Redwater.

The farmers appealed against a previous ruling by Mr. Justice J. Egbert that the sand and gravel on their land belonged to the mineral rights owners, Western Minerals Ltd. and Western Leaseholds Ltd.

The panel of five appeal judges, headed by Chief Justice G. B. O'Connor, set aside Mr. Justice Egbert's ruling and declared the two farmers owners of the sand and gravel as part of their surface rights.

The decision also had the effect of upholding provincial legislation which decreed last spring that surface rights owners also owned the sand and gravel.

The legislation was passed after Mr. Justice Egbert gave his reverse decision.

Counsel for the companies argued in the appeal that the legislation was unconstitutional, but the appellate division ruled it constitutional since it dealt with civil rights and property.

A provincial spokesman said the appeal decision means Alberta surface rights holders own sand and gravel on their land and can make use of it. "provided they can recover it by surface operations."

Henry G. Young, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta, lauded the decision by saying "surface rights owners now have a right to more than the top soil they plow."

Legal courses indicated the companies planned an appeal to the Privy Council. The original action started when the farmers began selling the sand and gravel from their land.

AVA, FRANKIE TO NAME DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(BUP) — Crooner Frank Sinatra refuses to name the day when he'll marry green-eyed Ava Gardner, but a spokesman for the singer says a definite date will be announced soon.

Sinatra spent the week in a midtown hotel, dodging newsmen and refusing to answer his phone.

It was hinted that Miss Gardner may fly east to join the singer for at least a brief period during his seven-weeks stay in New York, where he has been making recordings and launching an as-yet unsponsored television show.

Assassin Murders Pakistan Premier

By JAMES BERRY

KARACHI, Pakistan, Oct. 17.—(BUP)—Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan was assassinated yesterday by a member of a fanatical religious sect demanding a "holy war" against India.

The prime minister was cut down by two bullets fired into his chest at point-blank range as he arose to address a meeting at Rawalpindi, in the Punjab. He had gone to Rawalpindi, a hotbed of agitation between Pakistan and India in their bitter dispute over Kashmir, in an effort to soothe the angry atmosphere in the area.

A howling mob seized the assassin and tore his body to bits on the spot as the prime minister's body slumped to the floor.

Liaquat died at a military hospital to which he was rushed for a blood transfusion that failed to save his life.

A sobbing announcer officially informed the nation of his death over the Pakistan State Radio, which immediately began broadcasting prayers for the premier.

Authorities identified the assassin as a member of the fanatic Khaksar religious sect which has been demanding a "holy war" with neighboring India in the dispute between the two nations over control of the Kashmir region.

Radio Pakistan said the man's name was Saidw Akbar, a member of the Khaksar sect, founded in 1930 by Allama Mashriqi Khan, of Lahore. Allama was jailed four times in the stormy years before the partition of India and Pakistan.

Government officials said Liaquat was shot just as he stood up to address the Moslem league meeting.

Planned Escape During Royal Visit

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—(BUP)—An undisclosed number of prisoners in the Don Jail methodically planned a mass escape during the recent excitement of the Royal tour but were foiled by alert guards.

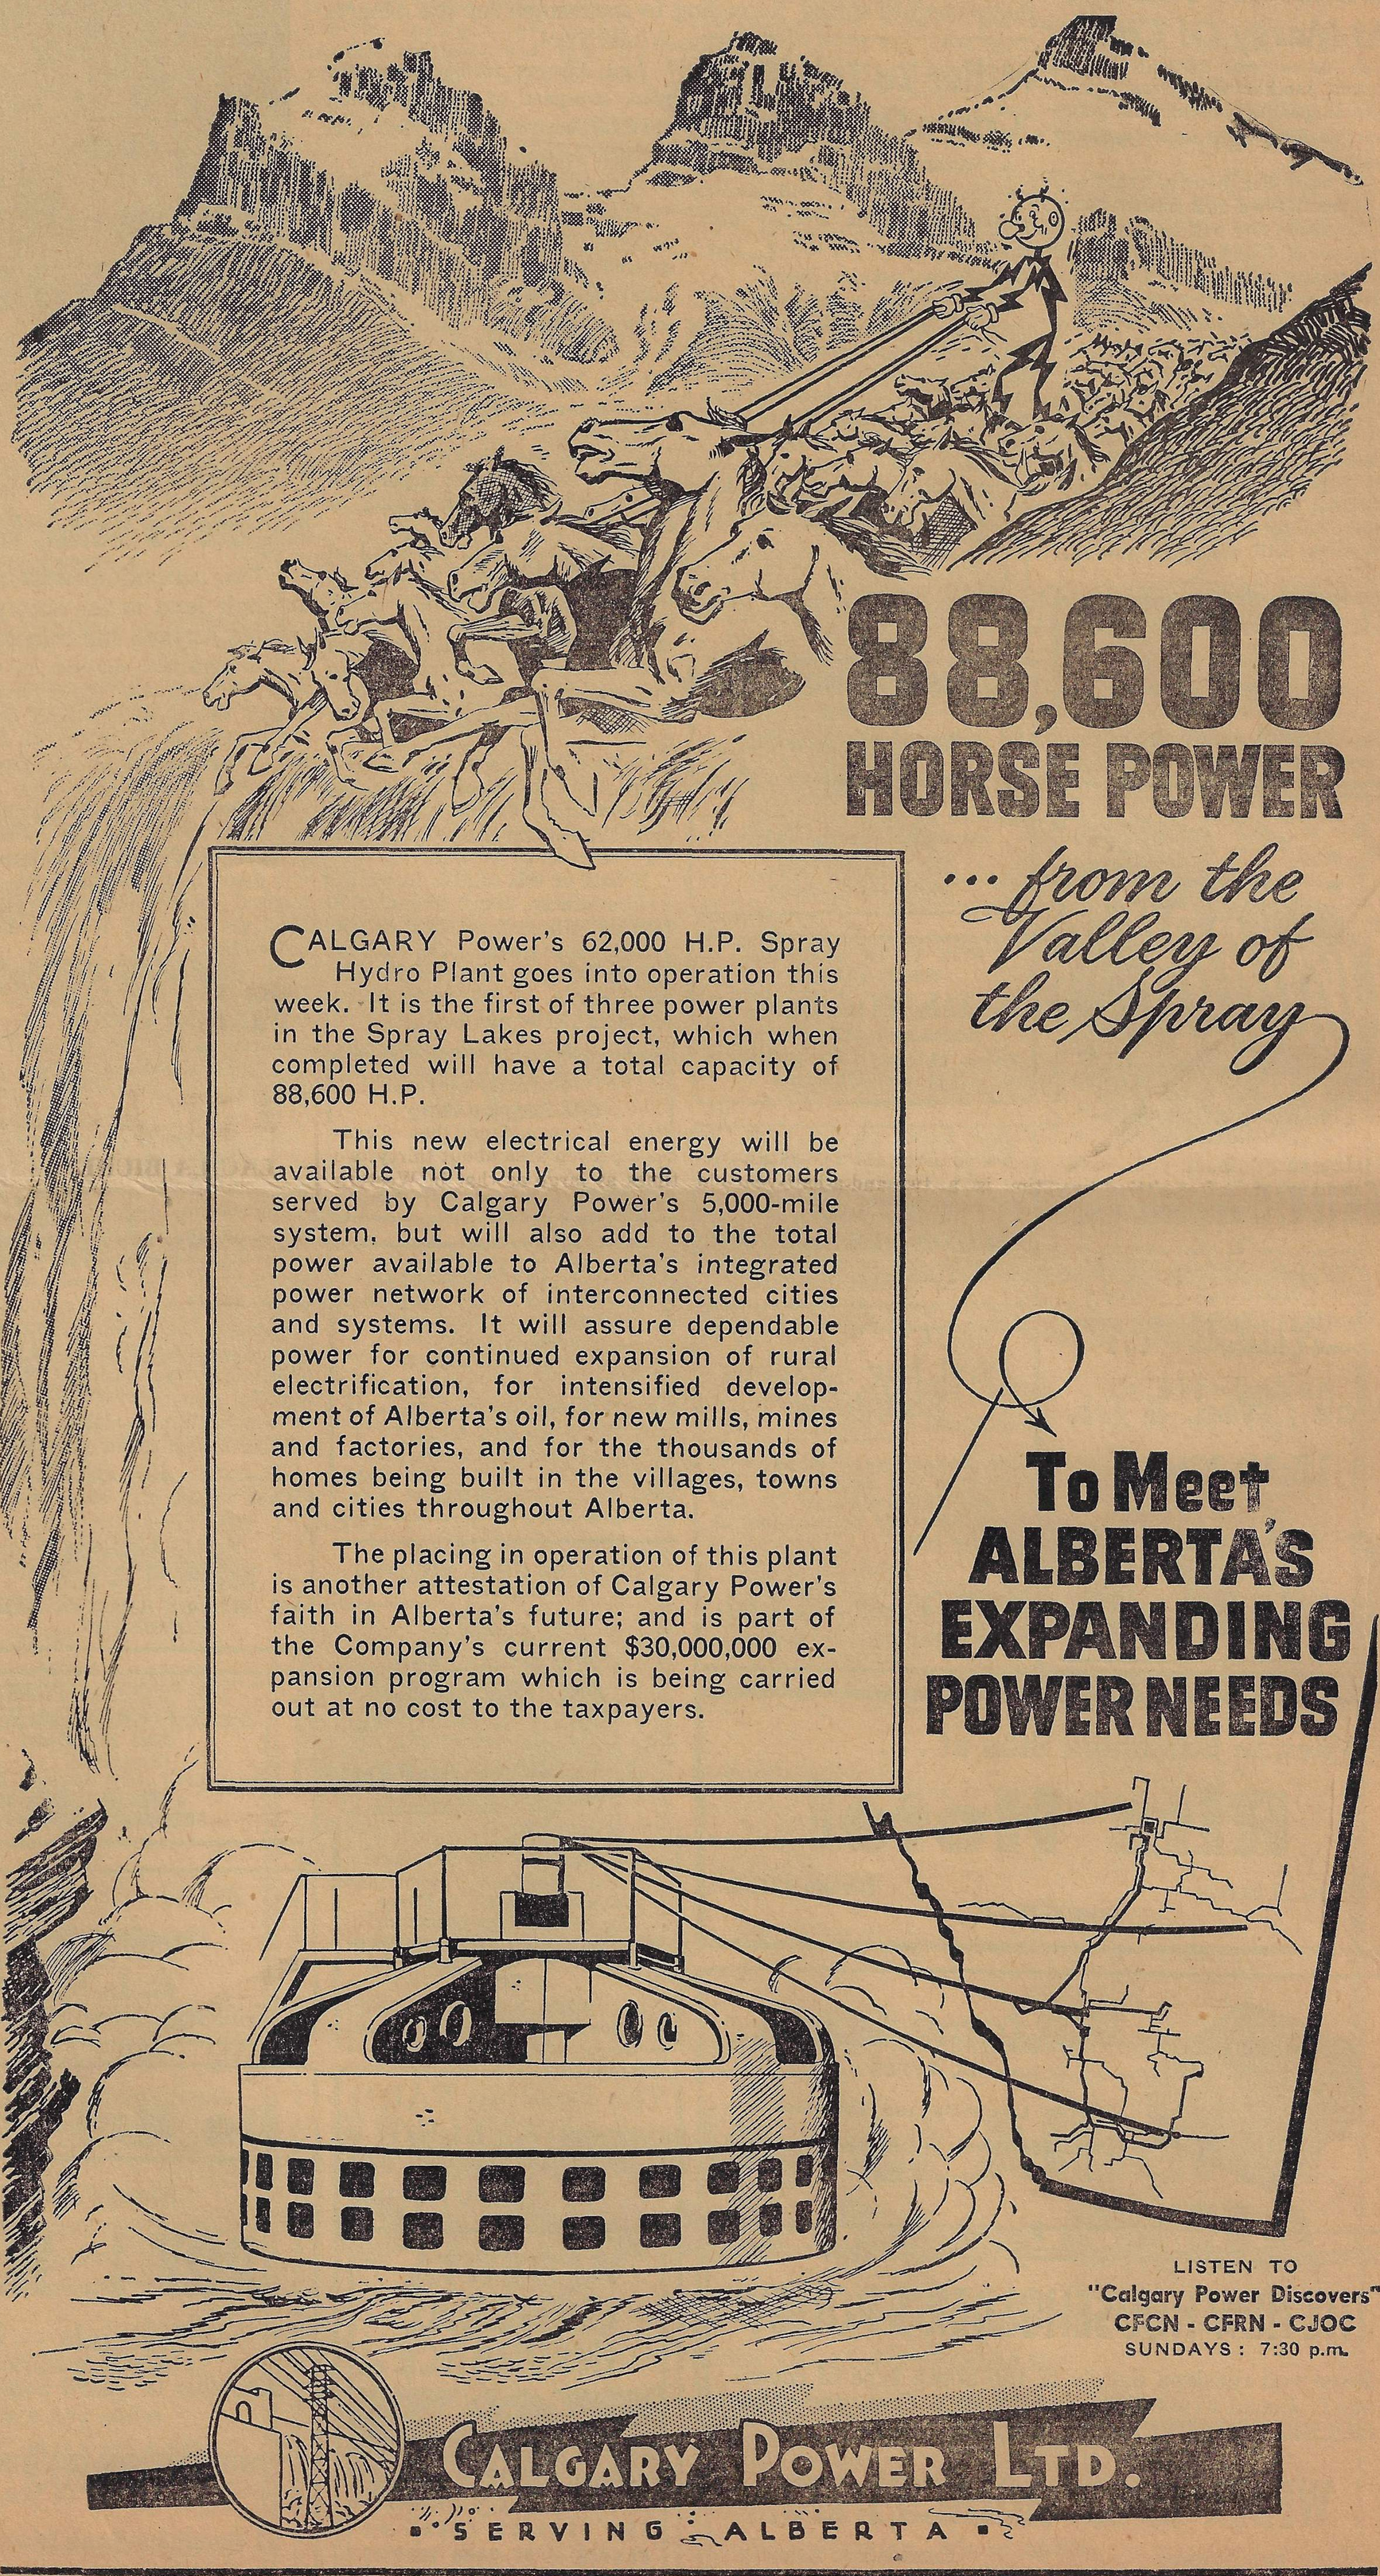

The warden's office said three iron bars on a window had been sawed through and put together again with soap for an escape the day thousands of citizens mingled outside the jail to watch the Royal procession.

Guards discovered the plot "several days" before the Royal visit last Saturday, spokesmen said.

Poodle Cloth In Fashion This Fall

Poodle cloth seems to be a favorite for coats this season. This is a fur like material and very warm. While some of the coats are fitted, the great majority seem to hang loose, have attractive collar treatments and huge buttons.

Coats are of every length so whether one buys a three-quarter, short or full-length garment is a matter of personal taste.

88,600 HORSE POWER

...from the Valley of the Spray

CALGARY Power's 62,000 H.P. Spray Hydro Plant goes into operation this week. It is the first of three power plants in the Spray Lakes project, which when completed will have a total capacity of 88,600 H.P.

This new electrical energy will be available not only to the customers served by Calgary Power's 5,000-mile system, but will also add to the total power available to Alberta's integrated power network of interconnected cities and systems. It will assure dependable power for continued expansion of rural electrification, for intensified development of Alberta's oil, for new mills, mines and factories, and for the thousands of homes being built in the villages, towns and cities throughout Alberta.

The placing in operation of this plant is another attestation of Calgary Power's faith in Alberta's future; and is part of the Company's current $30,000,000 expansion program which is being carried out at no cost to the taxpayers.

National Election For Next Year Forecast In Political Circles

By JAMES R. NELSON

OTTAWA, Oct. 15—(BUP)—A federal general election next year was being freely forecast in parliamentary circles today.

The throne speech which opened the new session of parliament was under close analysis by politicians on both the government and opposition sides of the Commons chamber.

As a result, political forecasters said a federal general election was almost certain for early next summer, if the political winds are blowing right. An alternative would be a fall election, not usually favored in federal political circles.

Mention of three major works projects in the government's legislative program, contained in the throne speech, was the main basis for speculation on election imminence. The speech, it was argued, was carefully drafted to bring all major segments of the country to the support of the government.

The three projects, political observers said, promised the electorate earl yaction on pet schemes of the Martime area, Ontario and the Western provinces. With Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent still leading the party, the Liberals were said to have no fear of the Quebec vote.

Parliament undoubtedly will take some action on each of the projects before the end of this year.

Political circles expected, then, that parliament would be called again in the new year, probably at the end of January or early in February, and after sitting two or three months, would be dissolved, and an election campaign called for June, the favorite month of National political campaigns.

A further piece of evidence supporting speculation on a 1952 election was the government's promise to introduce legislation declaring retail price fixing illegal.

The throne speech promised to undertake the St. Lawrence Seaway project, build a causeway to link Nova Scotia and Cape Breton Island, and to set up a commission to study a South Saskatchewan irrigation project.

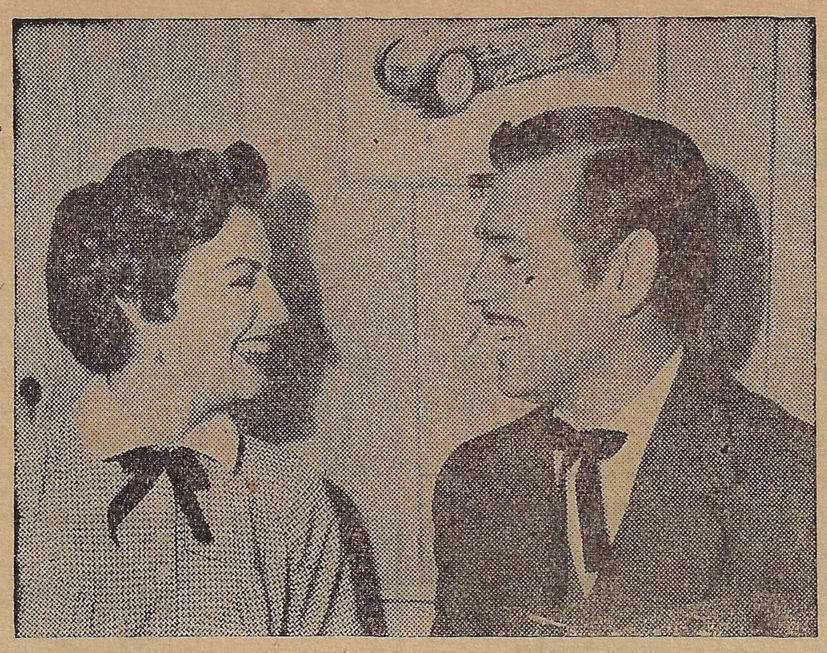

Dewey Urges Use A-Bomb On Reds

NEW YORK, ct. 17 — (BUP) — New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey told a television audience that he favored dropping the atomic bomb on Communist Manchuria if the cease-fire talks in Korea fail.

Appearing on the "Meet the Press" T-V show (NBC) Dewey said "We'll have to bomb Manchuria" if a cease-fire is not agreed upon.

Polio Total At 49 In Alberta

A new case of infantile paralysis was reported by the Alberta health department, increasing this year's total to 49. The latest victim is a two-and-a-half-year-old boy residing at Brooks.

AVA GARDNER and Clark Gable have apparently found something highly amusing in the script they are studying between scenes at the M-G-M Studio. They are filming "Lone Star," which absolutely MUST be a story with a Texas background.

Writer Views Western Oil Fields As Potential World Leader

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 — (BUP) — The Herald Tribune, comparing Western Canada oil fields with those in Texas, believes the prairies may rank some day with the world's largest oil-producing areas.

Financial writer Raymond L. Hoadley said in an article that this seemed to be a "reasonable assumption" since Western Canada "bids fair to produce 'black gold' in ever increasing quantities."

Excerpts from the article:

"The Western Canada favorable sedimentary area covers 590,000 square miles — more than twice the Texas sedimentary area (largest on this continent). Of this area, only 244 square miles has been proved up as oil-productive at the beginning of 1951. By the way of contrast, Texas has 3,850 square miles of proven territory. That means that Texas has a proven area about thirty-two times as large as that in Western Canada.

Canada May Boost Veterans Pension

OTTAWA, Oct. 17. — (BUP) — Veterans Affairs Minister Hugues Lapointe told the commons yesterday the government has been studying veterans legislation with a view to increasing basic pension rates.

George Cruickshank (L—Fraser Valley), who introduced a resolution calling for a general increase in penson rates, asked Lapointe for a full statement of the government's positon. The minister said he wuld make an announcement "at an early date."

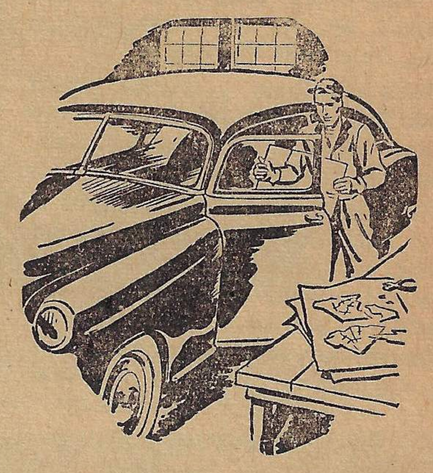

Industrial Pay On Increase In Canada

OTTAWA.—(BUP) — Workers in Canada's manufacturing industries averaged a ten cents an hour wage increase during the month of July.

The Bureau of Statistics reported that the average hourly earnings in manufacturing stood at 119.1 cents on Aug. 1 as against 118.4 at the beginning of July.

Gisele's Hollywood Neighbors Object To Menagerie Of Pets

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15—Gisele MacKenzie, the Canadian canary, admitted today she got "pressured" out of her Hollywood apartment because the neighbors objected to "all those shrieks and wolf whistles" that floated downstairs.

It wasn't what it sounded like, the shapely brunette chuckled. It was just her menagerie of pets.

"All I had," Gisele explained ruefully, "was a long-haired dachshund and a little old bird . . . a cockateel."

And she'd like to explain right here and now that she wasn't doing all that shrieking. It was the bird, Cokie. And Gisele would like ot think it was Cokie's singing the neighbors objected to—not her own.

"I sing around the house a little," she said. "But Cokie really gave out with some pretty horible squawks. It was enough to curdle your blood.

"And every time a pretty girl walked by, he let loose with a long, lone wolf whistle."

Now Gisele is a mighty pretty girl. She walked by Cokie's cage a good hundred times a day. That kept Cokie pretty busy.

"The man downstairs claimed it gave him heart attacks," she said. "And, really, they did take him to hosiptal a couple of times. I felt awful. It got so I was afraid to rehearse for my Capitol recording of 'J'attendrai" for fear it might bring on a seizure down below.

REALLY SENSATIVE

"They didn't like the dog, either. I had carpets all over, but the man complaine dhe could hear the dog's footsteps every time she walked around.

"I think that's getting a little sensative. Brunnhilde Von Bagel, that's my dog, only weighs about 15 pounds. She couldn't make all that noise!"

Gisele stood a coupla months of this and then got tired of the cold-shoulder treatment.

"They got so they wouldn't even speak to me," she sighed. "I'd pass them in the foyer and say 'good morning' and they'd stick up their noses and cut me dead.

"Now, life is too short to live like that. I finally gave up and found another place. But I had to give the bird away. My new landlord wouldn't hear of leasing a place to him.

"I even had to introduce him to Brunnhilde before he'd okay her."

All this hasn't endangered Canadian-American relations too much. Gisele, who has a program with Bob Crosby and another one with Mario Lanza, still likes it here. But her Canadian fans are afraid she's "going Hollywood."

"In Toronto I was known only as 'Gisele'," she grinned. "They don't like me adding another name. But I had to.

"My real name is Gisele LeFleche. That sounds like a bubble dancer!"

SALLY FORREST looks like a peach of a beach Lorelei! She goes through some calisthenics on a California beach after completing MGM's latest movie, "Bannerline."

Canadians Fire 100,000th Round

WITH CANADIANS IN KOREA, Oct. 17.—(BUP) — The Second Field Regiment of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery this week fired their 100,000th round since their arrival in Korea last May.

In a short address Brig. John M. Rockingham said to the men of D Battery "Able" Troop that behind the firing of the 100,000 round was the memory both of many months of arduous training and of hard work here in the field.

"I have never seen a better field artillery regiment and I know that my feelings are shared by the three infantry battalions of this brigade who have complete confidence in your capabilities," he said.

"I should like to commend you on your splendid performance and I know you will continue to do an excellent job as you have in the past."

"Charlie" gun, "Able" troop had the honor of firing the significant shell on which was scrolled "present from Rocky, 100,000th round."

In addition to about $340 federal taxes on a $2000 car, in some provinces Canadians pay provincial and municipal taxes.

Urges Doubling Of Baby Bonus

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(BUP)—A Quebec parliamentarian with seven children said yesterday the government could counteract rising prices by doubling baby bonuses.

Raoul Poulin (Ind.-Beauce) said his proposal was a "practical and easy way to correct the problem of rising prices." He told the Commons that family allowances should be doubled until prices return to normal levals.

Wholesale Trade Down In Canada

OTTAWA — (BUP) —Whole sale trade was down two per cent in nine major lines during August, the Bureau of Statistics reported.

The overall value of wholesale sales during the month dropped that amount below sales of the same month a year ago. The bureau added that sales of footwear, drugs, tobacco and confectionaries and fruits and vegetables rose during the month.

Wholesalers of dry goods, clothing, hardware, auto parts and groceries reported losses from their 1951 August sales, however.

Love May Make World Go Round But Fight Pictures Popular, Too

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Love may make the world go 'round, but there's nothing like a good fight to make the world sit up and take notice.

At least, that seems to be the trend in Hollywood these days. Romantic clinches are being replaced by the boxing kind, and the spotlight is on fights with swords knives, guns and fists.

A fight, in the classical tradition of the late Doug Fairbanks took place recently on the set of M-G-M's "Scaramouche." It was a fencing duel to end all duels, in the opinion of spectators—one calculated to make all previous film duelers look like a couple of buddies playing patty-cake.

The setting was unusual. As every movie goer knows, the correct place for a duel is beside the old elm—at dawn. But Director George Sidney had his duel take place in a brightly lighted theatre —at midnight.

The bout began when Stewart Granger, portraying an actor, leaped from the stage into a theatre box to challenge Mel Ferrer. The duel started there, carried down the corridor, into the foyer and down the centre aisle, coming to a climax finally on the stage and in full view of the audience.

And Clark Gable and Broderick Crawford just put on something of an entirely different nature for "Lone Star." They went at it with fists and bowie knives.

Robert Mitchum bowed to the new trend for "His Kind of Woman," and he carried around a set of bruises for several days to prove it. During a cruise on a luxury yacht, 20 high-spirited young men tried to tear each other apart, with four of them devoting their efforts to Mitchum.

In still a different setting—a railroad station of the 1850's—Dick Powell and Steven McNally tried to dismember each other for "The Tall Target." Things got interesting when they were strugling on the ground right in front of the wheels of a locomotive, as the engine started to move.

You don't have to worry about Powell. He escaped. So did McNally; somebody shot him before he was run over.

Reds Blast Norway For Giving West Military Bases

By DAVID MURRAY

LONDON, Oct. 17. — (BUP)— Russia formally threatened reprisals today if Norway permits the North Atlantic Pact organization to establish bases on Spitzbergen and Bear islands.

The Soviets charged that Norway already has violated a nine-power treaty signed in Paris Feb. 9, 1920, by agreeing to place the two strategic Arctic islands within the "competence" of the commander of the Western defence forces.

The Soviet warning was contained in a stiff note handed the Norwegian ambassador in Moscow yesterday by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky. A summary of the note was broadcast this morning by Radio Moscow.

It accused Norway of permitting Norwegian territory to be used for the preparation of war against the Soviet Union and also charged the Norwegians with carrying out a "vast" military program of their own.

The note berated Norway for joining the Atlantic Pact. It said that the Norwegians had assured Russia in a note on Feb. 15, 1929, that they never would concur in a policy aggressive to the Soviet Union and never would permit Norwegian territory to be used for such purposes.

Farm Loan Board Nets $130,000 Profit

OTTAWA — (BUP) — The Canadian Farm Loan Board show a profit of $131,583 during the fiscal year, a drop of $10,679 from the previous year, the board's auditors told parliament.

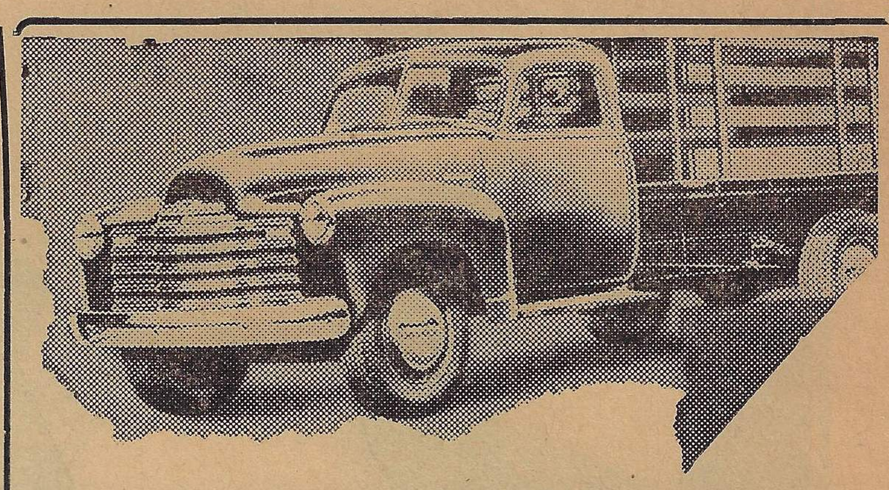

The board was established to extend long term credit for farmers on security of first and second mortgages on farm properties.

The board's auditors reported that in the year ending March 31, the board earned interest amounting to $1,272,000 on loans advanced farmers, an increase of $81,936.

SEE STRANGE OBJECT

McCHORD FIELD, Wash. — Pilots of the 325th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron investigated reports from the Whidbey Island Naval Air Base that a strange object was seen flying over the island, located in Puget Sound.

Three different aircraft reported seeing the object. However, Brig. Gen. Clinton D. Vincent, commanding officer of the 25th Air Division said, "It is my conclusion that the object was either a heavenly body or a freed balloon."

Red Russia Not Planning Open War Against West

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 — (BUP) — One of the top American experts on Soviet affairs believes that Russia does not plan an aggressive, open war on the West.

George F. Kennan, former chief of the State Department's policy planning staff, expressed this opinion at the controversal round-table discussion of China policy in 1949 between private advisers and state department officials.

"As we see it, we do not feel to this day that the Russians have the intention or expectation or desire to launch a great sudden military onslaught on the West," Kennan told the Oct. 6, 1949 meeting. "That is not to say that there is not a basic conflict of view . . . and it is not to say that for other reasons they might not come to the conclusion that a war is necessary."

At Princeton, N.J., where he is doing private research on Russia, Kennan said last night that his views on Soviet war intentions had not changed in the last two years.

"That certainly has been all along and remains my view," Kennan said.

Kennan also reaffirmed his 1949 statement that he did not believe Soviet leaders "have conceded that a great, aggressive, open war was the way in which their aims were to be achieved." He said this holds true despite the announcement that Russia had exploded an atomic bomb.

Kennan's 1949 views on Soviet intentions and Soviet-Communist Chinese relations were made public by the State Department in its running battle with Harold E. Stassen over what went on at the roundtable conference.

Another surprise in Kennan's extemporaneous statement disclosed that Josef Stalin in late 1945 had told an unidentified American official that Russia had nothing material to offer Red China because of its own requirements in the Soviet Far East.

NOT HELPING CHINA

"I remember Stalin one time snorting rather contemptuously and vigorously because one of our people asked them what they were going to give China when this war was over," Kennan recalled, "and he said in effect 'what the Hell do you think we can give China?'

"He said 'we have a hundred cities of our own to build in the Soviet Far East. If anybody is going to give anything to the Far East I think it's you.' "

Kennan, when asked anew about this statement by Stalin, told the British United Press the Soviet leader "meant any form of China" — Nationalist or Communist. He said "that (statement) would hold today."

The Soviet expert's views of the improbability of war by Russia was based on these factors:

1. The Soviets believe that capitalism will destroy itself with local Red parties acting to speed the event by serving as "midwives."

2. "Russian expansionism has been a history of gradual, rather cautious, patient, bit-by-bit expansion, always directed to what lay immediately beyond their land frontiers in Europe and Asia."

3. Russian people, still suffering from the last war, are not "in a frame of mind again to enter in a contest."

4. Let's remember that never in Russian history have the Russians ever . . . been enthused about any deliberate aggressive action of their own outside of Russia."

During 1950 a total of $60,000,000 was paid out by Workmen's Compensation Boards in industrial accident cases.

Northern Theme in Gifts For Princess Elizabeth

Edmonton, "the Gateway to the North," has appropriately added the northern theme to its plans for the Oct. 27 visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The Royal tour committee announced three gifts will be presented to the Royal couple — a beaver coat for Prince Charles, a native-made Eskimo doll for Princess Anne and a polar bear rug for their Royal Highnesses.

The presentations will be made at the Legislative building while the Royal couple are on a 20-mile tour of the city.

Two orphan children yet to be selected will present the gifts for bonnie Prince Charlie and his sister on behalf of the city of Edmonton. Premier E. C. Manning will present the polar bear rug to Princess Elizabeth.

The Princess also will receive a bouquet from the daughter of a serviceman killed in World War II. She will then make a brief address.

Edmonton thus ended the secrecy surrounding the gifts to be presented to the Royal visitors. Previous plans were to keep them a secret until they were actually presented.

The Royal tour committee decided to place officialdom in the background a bit more by having a young girl present Princess Elizabeth with a bouquet.

The committee said the child, yet to be chosen, will carry out her role immediately after the Princess received a gift from the province and the city of Edmonton.

The committee dropped plans to have Mrs. E. C. Manning, wife of Premier Manning, present the first bouquet in a private welcoming ceremony at the railway station. The Legislative ceremony takes place one hour and 20 minutes after the arrival of the Royal couple.

Employment At Peak In Canada

OTTAWA — (BUP) — Almost 99 per cent of Canada's workers had jobs in August.

The Bureau of Statistics reported that of the nation's non constitutional labor force of 5,421,000 persons, only 78,000 were out of work on Aug. 18.

Swam Channel Won't Try Again

CALGARY, Alta., Oct 17—(BUP)—Mrs. Winnifred Leuszler, the only Canadian ever to swim the English channel, indicated yesterday she might give up competitive swimming.

Her husband, Morris, is a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force stationed here. Mrs. Leuszler arrived in the city Saturday.

She said she did not think she would try the channel swim again. Her trip to England last summmer was a losing proposition.

"I'm satisfied that I'm the first Canadian to do it," said Mrs. Leuszler, "and that's enough for me."

Norwood exported 4.000 tons of butter in 1950.

Blames Adults For Juvenile Troubles

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 19.—Failure of the older generation to give guidance to youth was blamed by Bishop Godfrey P. Gower of the Anglican diocese of New Westminster, as being the reason for juvenile delinquency and zoot-suiters.

In his charge to the 250 delegates attending the three-day Synod in Vancouver, the prelate said, "Youth of today must express themselves in terms of what they want, because the older generation has failed to give proper guidance.

"We need not wonder," he said, "that zoot suiters and juvenile delinquency are part of their expression, for in their immaturity they cannot be expected to have a moral sense as strong as their overflowing and boisterous spirit.

He said the older generation has failed to find what they want," so how can they give guidance to today's younger generation."

Calgary House Self-Propelled

CALGARY (BUP)—Paul Bonikowski, a jack-of-all-trades who built his own home, can go anywhere there's a road without leaving his bungalow.

The four-room house is self-propelled because it's mounted on a truck chassis and equipped with an engine.

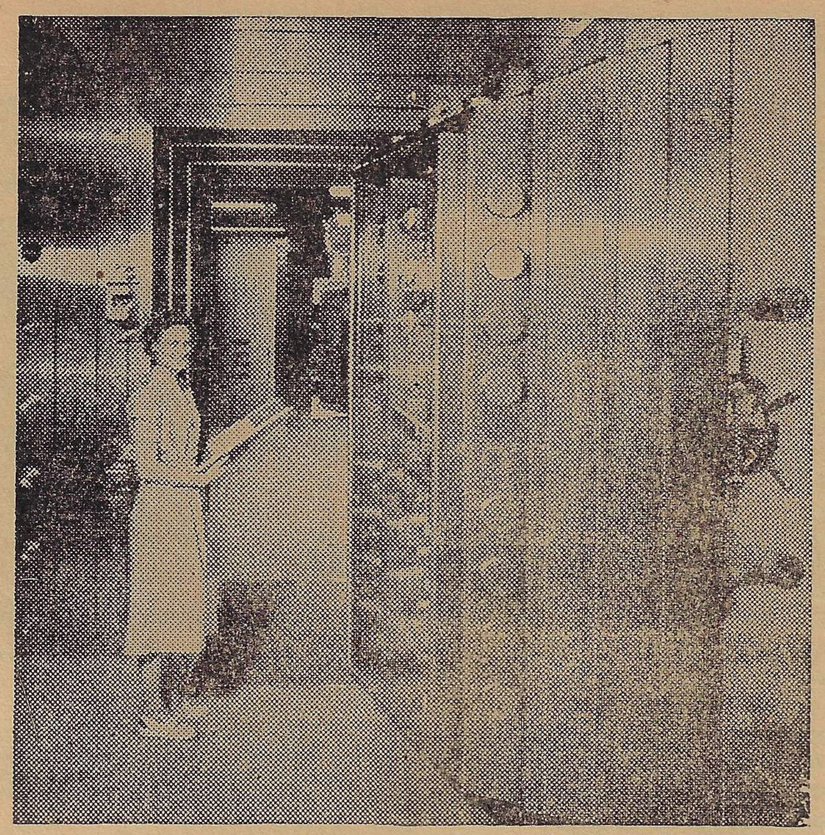

The front bedroom doubles as the driver's cab.

Bonikowski can move by folding up two rooms and placing the walls on top of the house. Then he lifts part of the bedroom floor, revealing the clutch and brake and other floor instruments.

"It can breeze along nicely about 45 miles per hour," the owner said. "Top speed is 60 but it rides better at 45."

Asked why he built a rolling home, Bonikowski said:

"Well, sometime things might not be so good here and I'll want to go someplace else. This will save me all the trouble of selling my house here and buying another in teh next place I move to."

GRACE OLAFSON works in what is probably the safest place on earth. She is custodian of the safety deposit boxes in The Bank of Nova Scotia's new general office building, Toronto, where the first atomic-blast proof vaults have been constructed. Miss Olafson is seen beside one of the 55-ton doors that has two feet of solid metal thickness. Walls of the vaults are three foot reinforced concrete.

Defence Projects To Curb Home Building In Canada

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA, Oct. 17—(BUP)—Resources Minister Robert Winters warned last night that defence constructions would force further reductions in private home building, but said housing would remain the No. 2 item on the government's program.

His warning came as he presented a broad review of the government's housing program to parliament in the throne speech debate. Although he warned further restrictions in building materials and manpower, he promised that Canadians would be permitted to build new homes "up to the limit of building capacity and materials available."

Winters, minister in charge of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, also said that the number of homes completed this year would be about 6,000 short of those built in 1950.

All Parties Approve Sending Of Canadian Troops To Defend Europe

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(BUP)—Support for Canadian troops being sent to Europe to serve under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be unanimous in the House of Commons next week, but opposition MP's will press for more detailed word from the government on Canada's commitments to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent announced that the government would ask the House formally next week to sanction the dispatch of Canadian forces to Europe. An order-in-council approving the transfer of 10,000 men to Eisenhower's command may go before the cabinet today.

All parties in the House of Commons support Canada's intention to contribute a field brigade of ground forces and 11 squadrons of aircraft to the integrated combined pool of North Atlantic forces in Europe. The bulk of the troops are expected to be sent to Western Germany next month, with the movement complete before Christmas. They will be stationed near Hanover.

As the general state-of-the-nation throne speech debate entered its fifth day, all parties had stated their position but none had questioned the merit of the troops-to-Europe movement.

RETURNS FROM JAMBOREE—The job of taking care of British and Canadian scouts who this past summer attended scout jamboree in Austria was the responsibility of the three pictured here. They are John Thurman, left, of England; Rev. Robert Rolls, Hamilton, Ontario, and Rex Harlewood of British Headquarters. Now returned to their own countries, 15,000 scouts of 47 nations solemnly pledged to help preserve peace and the right to worship as they please.

GOV'T URGED TO BUILD UP NORTH

OTTAWA, Oct. 15—(BUP)—The government has been urged to bear a greater share of the cost of exploiting Northern Canada's mineral wealth as a weapon against both attack and inflation.

James A. Simmons (L-Yukon-Mackenzie) told parliament "there was never a time in our history when mining and the products of the mine were so vitally important to our safety and to our future in the world."

"Actually," he said, "Canadians cannot be strong and remain free in the face of perils today without the products of our mineral industries."

Simmons called on the government to adopt a three-point program to help private industry develop northern resources.

Simmons urged:

1. Improved transportation into the Canadian north, particularly by air.

2. Greater encouragement to prospectors to search for new mineral deposits through a subsidization plan.

3. More self-government for the people of the Yukon and the Mackenzie district of the Northwest Territories.

Simmons said inflation could be checked if "we produce more natural wealth in Canada."

Simmons said Canada was moving north in a big way because of the vast deposits of minerals ready for exploitation.

He said, Canada must be prepared, however, to improve transportation facilities into the Yukon and Northwest Territories "in order to reap the benefits of our northern inheitance."

"We need more air services," Simmons said. "They should be extended in all directions. Airways are the key to northern wealth."

He also called on the government to construct and maintain resources roads into the wilderness.

Simmons supported the construction of a railway through northern British Columbia into the Yukon and on to Alaska.

'Such a rail link would be of far reaching advantage for the future devlopment of British Columbia, Yukon and Alaska, and our defence of this continent," he said.

The Northern legislator urged the construction of another railway from Lynn Lake in Northern Manitoba to the new uranium development on the north side of Lake Athabaska .The line, he said, should then run to Pine Point on the south side of Great Slave Lake and then in a southerly direction to connect with the Northern Alberta Railways and Pacific coast rail outlet.

"Orderly development would also call for an extension of the Mackenzie highway to Mills Lake and Yellowknife, N.W.T., with feeder roads to neighboring mineralized areas," he said.

Simmons favored a subsidy plan under which prospectors would receive direct government aid to further their exploration. The return to Canada in mineral wealth would justify the expenditure, he declared.

Simmons said the people of the Yukon and the Northwest Territories should have the right to elect separate members to the House of Commons. At present he represents both the Yukon and N.W.T.

Canada Making Powerful New Military Weapons

TORONTO, Oct. 17.— (BUP) — Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the defence research council, said Canada has the most accurate Bazooka anti-tank weapon in the world.

Dr. Salandt told a Toronto audience yesterday that several research teams had participated in the development of the new weapon. He said the anti-tank gun was as powerful or more powerful than any other in the world and had exceptional accuracy.

Solandt said the Canadian government's research teams were concentrating on only a few new weapons. He admitted these included types of guided missiles, a new type of pack howitzer and more effective armor-piercing small arms ammunition.

Baseball Said A 'Monopoly'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 — The U.S. house subcommittee investigating baseball heard a sport columnist brand the sport as a "monopoly" and say it is the duty of Congress to "break it up."

Sports scribe R. G. Lynch of the Milwaukee Journal sat on the witness stand and said—

'The farm system and reserve clause have enabled Big League owners to set up a system of peonage and blacklist. They're able to dictate what kind of baseball you will have in each city," he continued, "and when the players can play. They flaunt their own rules, do anything they want for their own benefit." It's the duty of Congress to make the owners obey the law of the country if baseball is breaking any anti-trust laws."

Former commissioner A. B. Chandler also was discussed at yesterday's session in Washington.

U.S. Hoping To Avoid Atomic Showdown With Soviet Russia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 — (BUP) — The United States today hoped to avoid an atomic showdown with Russia in the face of a blast by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky that U.S.-Russian relations could hardly be worse than they already are.

But a new chill was cast over world peace hopes by the Kremlin's revelation that it is standing behind North Korean and Chinese Red efforts to win a Korean armistice on the 38th parallel.

Also dampening peace hopes was the Kremlin's sudden action in revealing recent confidential American-Soviet talks in the Soviet capital on the Korean war and other East-West issues.

The Soviet action was interpreted by State Department experts as rejection of a move made by the United States to break the Korean stalemate as a prelude to international negotiations to ease world tension.

But officials said the United States would take every possible action to try again to negotiate with the Soviets.

Atomic bombs in the hands of both sides spurs the search for peaceful settlements of disputes, they said.

The American bid for Soviet support to end the Korean war by getting the stalled armistice negotiations going again was communicated on Oct. 5 by U.S. ambassador Alan G. Kirk to Vishinsky. Kirk offered a four-point armistice plan.

Vishinsky replied Monday with what the U.S. State Department termed a "propaganda blast" blaming the United States and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway for the Korean war and the stalled truce negotiations. He added it was "only barely possible to imagine" that American-Soviet relations could be "worse."

His denunciation was communicated to the United States at almost the same time President Truman was making a new "peace" bid to Russia in a speech.

The fiery Soviet diplomat told U.S. charge d'affairs Hugh S. Cummings, Jr., in Moscow that Russia wanted an end of the Korean war and offered to discuss improvement of international relations.

But the possibility of Russia actually carrying out these statements was blasted, in the State Department's view, when Moscow made public the Soviet-American talks with new attacks on the United States.

Radio Inspectors Check Up On Licence

Radio inspectors of the Department of Transport are now engaged in a check-up on unlicenced radio owners throughout the Province. Radio licences should be kept handy for inspection when called upon.

Those unable to produce current licences must expect a court action with consequent fine and costs. The Department trusts, however, that anyone who has, so far, neglected to procure his or her licence will immediately do so and that a minimum of such unpleasant action will be necessary.

The color of licences this year is yellow for the $2.50 issue and white for the $2.00. A separate licence is required for automobile radios.

All licences expired on April 1st last. They may be procured from Post Offices, some radio dealers, or directly from the Radio Inspector, 10138 100A St., Edmonton, Alberta.

The Lighter Side

Quite a Gal!

At a national Sunday School convention answers were given to the roll call by states. When the State of Texas was called, a brawny specimen of southern manhood stepped out into the aisle, and with a strident voice exclaimed:

"We represent the great State of Texas. The first white woman born in Texas is still living. She now has a population of over three million."

There was a pause of bewilderment for a moment, and then a voice from the galleries rang out clear and distinct:

"Send that woman out to Wyoming. We need her!"

. . . Should Be Experienced

The very rich man was interviewing an applicant for the job as his personal valet.

"You may have trouble with me," he said. "I have a wooden leg, a glass eye, a toupee, an artificial arm and false teeth."

"That won't bother me," replied the applicant. "I used to be on the assembly line at Lockheed."

He Stuck It Out

A young lad in the lower grades complained to his teacher that he had a terrific stomach ache. The teacher sent him to see the principal.

When the little tyke returned to the classroom, he walked in such a manner that his stomach stuck way out. When the teacher asked him why he was walking that way, he replied:

"I told the principal I had a stomach ache and he said if I could stick it out till noon he'd drive me home."

Something New

The long-winded lecturer had been holding forth for over an hour, except for brief pauses from time to time to gulp a hasty drink of water.

Finally, during one such pause, an old farmer in the audience leaned toward his neighbor and announced in a loud whisper: "First time I ever saw a windmill run by water."

Ideal Set-Up

Two men were discussing the coming marriage of their buddy.

"He is getting a wonderfully accomplished girl," said one. "She can swim, ride, drive a car, and pilot a plane. A real all-around girl."

"They ought to get along," observed the other. "He learned to cook in the army."

Good Reason

The defendant acknowledged that he hadn't spoken to his wife in five years and the judge put in a question.

"What reason have you?" he asked severely.

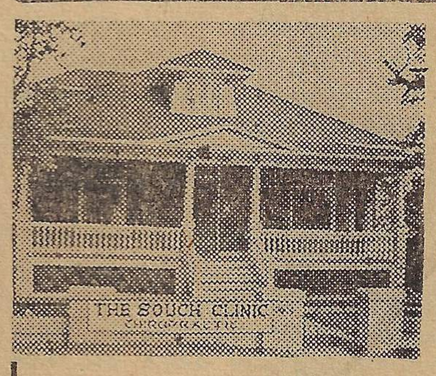

Replied the husband, "I didn't want to interrupt her."

Indians Perform War Dance But Won't Smoke Peace Pipe For Royalty

By BERT L. MARSH

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 19. — Indians in war paint and feathered headdresses performed a war dance for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, but refused to smoke peacepipes with them.

"Ugh," Chief Little Dog of the Blackfeet tribe said as as he huddled in a warm multi-colored blanket to keep warm. "Our forefathers do that in 1877. Not us."

Chief Calf Robe, 61, equally resplendent in his tall feathered headdress, buckskin suit and department store rubbers, grunted and shook his war-painted head in obvious approval.

So did Chief Many Bears, a giant of 68 with many mink pelts hanging from his bead-studded wampum belt and a tailor made cigarette drooping between his lips.

Many Bears, Litle Dog and Calf Robe were among the leaders of an Indian party that set up wigwams outside the Calgary stampede grounds overnight to wait for the Princess and Duke to arrive today. Fires burned inside the wigwam doors.

Squaws cleaned up the breakfast dishes and stayed in the warm teepees while the braves braved the chilly temperature and paleface questions on the thinly snow-covered gravel outside.

Chief Many Bears, who wore his brother Mike's World War I service medals and a three-inch bronze medal presented to him by the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall in 1901, grunted that he wouldn't wish the weather on a wolf.

The chief's squaws apparently are neat workers with whatever Indians use for a needle and thread. They said they ordered their wives to make their clothes as they squatted near babbling brooks in the wilds while the menfolk tuned in their battery radios to the latest hit parade numbers or hockey games.

FALL FASHION—The short evening dress above, popular for fall wear, is of Italian jacquard taffeta.

McColl-Frontenac Refinery Opens

A third refinery went into operation on Edmonton's eastern outskirts Wednesday. The $8,000,000 McColl-Frontenac plant started production with a capacity of 5,500 barrels of refined oil daily.

Operation of the plant boosted refinery capacity in the Edmonton area to 41,000 barrels daily, including output from the Imperial Oil and British American Oil plants.

Pope Pius Tells Of Anxiety Over Fear Of New War

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 15 — (BUP) — Pope Pius XII Sunday said the world suffered general uncertainty and anxiety because of fear peace may disappear again.

Closing the solemn celebrations at Fatima, Portugal, with a radio address in Portuguese, the Pontiff said, "The world desires peace and despite the much that has been done, it still continues to sigh, trembling from the anxiety of seeing it disappear again."

He exhorted all Catholics at Fatima to renew their intentions to work for peace and pledged himself to "work untiringly and with all the means in our power for true good of the great human family."

The Pontiff said that one year ago while closing the holy door in the Basilica of St. Peter he seemed to see the "Lord's angel, who 12 months before had gone out to the same door around the world to invite all souls of goodwill to seek peace in the health-giving pool of the jubilee ready for them in the heart of the Eternal City."

The answer to that invitation, the Pope said, was "a magnificent and stupendous spectacle of the unity" of the church.

BOOK BRIEFS

Career Soldier Finds Himself National Fame

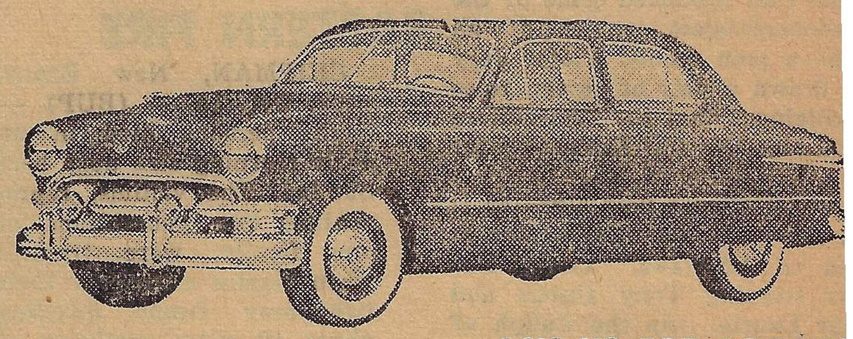

In Melville Goodwin, U. S. A. (Little Brown) John P. Marquand has dissected the military mind as personified by Maj. Gen. Goodwin. Goodwin's whole life was steeped in the service. His personality shaped in the standardizing mold of West Point, he became an excellent combat leader, fearless and reliable. It was this almost perfect fighting machine — but naive in civilian ways—who sudenly found himself exposed to the admiring civilian world through an incident that brought him national fame. His popularity also resulted in a renewal of an affair with Dottie Peale, whom he had met in Paris during the war and had practically forgotten. The story is told by Sidney Skelton, a radio commentator who is drawn into General Goodwin's orbit in spite of himself. Another notable character is Muriel, the General's competent wife, who managed his career from cadet days. Muriel views the General's affair with Dottie Peale calmly, confident that the army will save him and bring him back to his career and to her. Marquand has done his usual expert job of characterization and the General will stay alive for many a day in the minds of the thousands of readers who will follow the unfolding of his career. . . .

A Hero of Our Time, by Vasco Pratolini (Prentice-Hall), is the story of a heel, Italian style, told by one of Italy's better post-war novelists. Sandrino is a 16-year-old, baby-faced neo-Fascist, who uses blackmail, deceit and seduction to get what he wants. He finds a girl who offers him true love and salvation too late and is overwhelmed by his past. . . .

The idea of Father's Day originated with Mrs John B. Dodd, Spokane. The first celebration was held in Spokane June 19, 1910.

Movie Producer Hits New High In Making Blood-Curdling Shows

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Shades of Boris Karloff!

Out at Universal-International —offspring of the Universal studio that produced some of the blood-curdlingest movies of all time—a man named Victor Jory has drawn a pair of screen roles so villainous that the film editors voted him "Man of Extinction for 1951."

Jory reaches a new high—or is it a new low—for ruthlessness in "Son of Ali Baba," Technicolor opus starring Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie. As the Caliph of Bagdad in this film, Jory is responsible for more than a score of deaths.

That represents considerable progress from his previous picture for the same studio, another Technicolor effort entitled "Cave of Outlaws." In that one, Jory, "The Sneer," arranged for the snuffing out of half a dozen lives.

Jory began acting in 1919. He estimates that during his entire acting career he has brought an end to the earthly existence of no less than 2,500 celluloid victims, and about 200 stage characters.

SECOND CAREER

He has had two distinct stage careers and now is working on his second movie career, as well. After appearing in theatres all over the United States and becoming the highest-paid actor in stock, Jory began his first motion picture career in 1932. It lasted 10 years.

He went back to the stage and did not make another picture for five full years. In 1947 he came back to the screen.

EIGHT DIE IN EASTERN FIRE

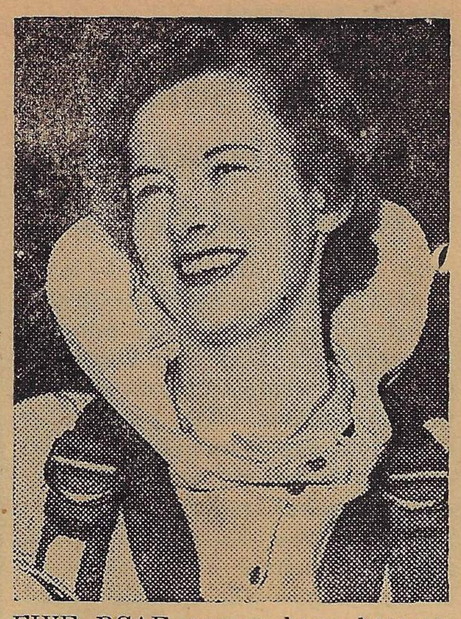

CHIPMAN, New Brunswick, Oct. 15 — (BUP) — Eight persons died in an early morning fire near here Sunday. The victims, representing two generations of one family, were trapped when flames destroyed their two-storey frame dwelling about 40 miles northeast of Fredericton.

The victims are Docithe Dupuis, 69; son, Alphee, 32, and Alphee's wife, Mrs. Yvonne Dupuis. Also lost in the blaze were the Dupuis' five children — ranging in age from seven to 14 months.

Civil defence courses will be resumed at the Olds School of Agriculture early next spring.

The Alberta Civil Defence organization announced that Course No. two was completed recently. Between now and next spring the school will be occupied with its regular classes in agriculture and home economics.

400,000 Canadians Are Criminals

HALIFAX, NS.. (BUP) — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police force has on file the fingerprints of 400,000 living criminals but only 14,000 were considered "serious" threats to law and order.

RCMP Commissioner L. H. Nicholson reoprted the figures to the chief constables association conference here. He also revealed that the Mounties had 300,000 firearms registered with them to keep tab on possible law breaking.

Our greatest trouble today is that our neighbors are always buying something we can't afford.

Firms Claim Higher Prices Needed To Offset Rising Costs

Milk producers and distributers in many Alberta centres want higher prices for their product.

G. M. Blackstock, chairman of the Public Utilities Board, said last night Edmonton interests are the latest to file applications for boosts.

Their applications simply say they want an increase to take care of increased costs. No specific boost is sought.

No date was set to hear the applications, Blackstock announced, since the board will first have to dispose of an application by Northwestern Utilities for a boost in its gas rates. This hearing is scheduled to open Monday.

Milk producers in Calgary and Red Deer and both producers and distributors in the Lethbridge and Medicine Hat districts have applied for increases. The board already has heard the Calgary case and reserved its decision. Another case is to be considered on the application of Ponoka producers for a boost.

Aside from cheese, rats also enjoy doughnuts, apples, sweet potatoes and peanut butter.

Price War Shows Sign Of Spreading From Hamilton

HAMILTON, Oct. 15.—(BUP)—Prices continued to plummet as a price war here began to spread throughout Western Ontario.

Five big stores including Eaton's slashed prices, apparently encouraged by the federal government's stand against the practice of fixed retail floor prices.

Prices of household appliances drew the biggest slash. Mixmasters are selling for $20 less and $15 has been lopped off the price of floor polishers.

The five stores kept tabs on each other's prices. Sales clerks hurried to and from the different stores getting the price of items and reporting back to their own store.

But the department stores may be headed for trouble from the government. A committee on combines has denounced this type of price-cutting. It is described as a "loss leader" device to boost business but one which could get out of hand and cheapen the value of many goods.

Letter to Louisa

Dear Louisa:

I have been reading so much about teen agers using narcotics that I became worried and the mothers of our school children had a survey made. We found that there was no problem here.

We wondered whether our small town was unusual or whether this was the case in most of the less populated places.

MOTHER, Tenn.

Answer:

The problem of teenagers using narcotics is mainly one for the larger cities. Of course, a thing like that will spread to smaller places if left unchecked and the officials of these larger places should accept the responsibility for this disgraceful situation and get to work and put away these peddlers of vice.

The city of Los Angeles has made the effort to do just this by stricter law enforcement and I understand that the officials there have been very successful.

Three-fourths of the young drug addicts come from metropolitan areas and from homes that are broken, or worse. That, of course, doesn't mean that there are not exceptions for some of these youngsters do come from decent homes.

Children who live in good homes and have interested and loving parents are taught the dangers of such habits and even though they begin on a dare or because of association with bad companions, their parents will probably discover the trouble before the case becomes a hopeless one.

More power to women like you mothers who are interested enough in your children to try and find out if there is any reason to be worried. An ounce of prevention, you know, is worth a pound of cure.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

My husband died a month ago and my two children want me to sell my house and live with each one six months of the year. I love my children and my in-laws but I am afraid I will be dissatisfied as I have lived in this place for many years.

The children do not like me to live alone. I am comfortably well off. What do you think I should do? I am undecided.

GRANDMOTHER, N.J.

Answer:

Don't sell your house. If you wish, try living with the children for a few months or a year and see how the plan works. I personally think you may be glad to have your own place to come back to.

On the other hand, if you do find living with the children pleasant, and they are pleased to have you, the house can be sold later on. If it is a large dwelling, you may divide it, renting out part of it to congenial people and keeping a small apartment for yourself.

It is nice to have a place of your own to come back to, be it ever so small.

Tragery In the Wilds

By THOMAS

The berries on the vines have dried
Missed by the rambling feasting bear.
The great bull moose impatient, tried
Eleven month silent voice eyes glare.

With moss grown antlers, twists willow
Stamps, grunts defiance; knows no rest.
Echo in the hills his bugled show
To guide the Red man on his quest.

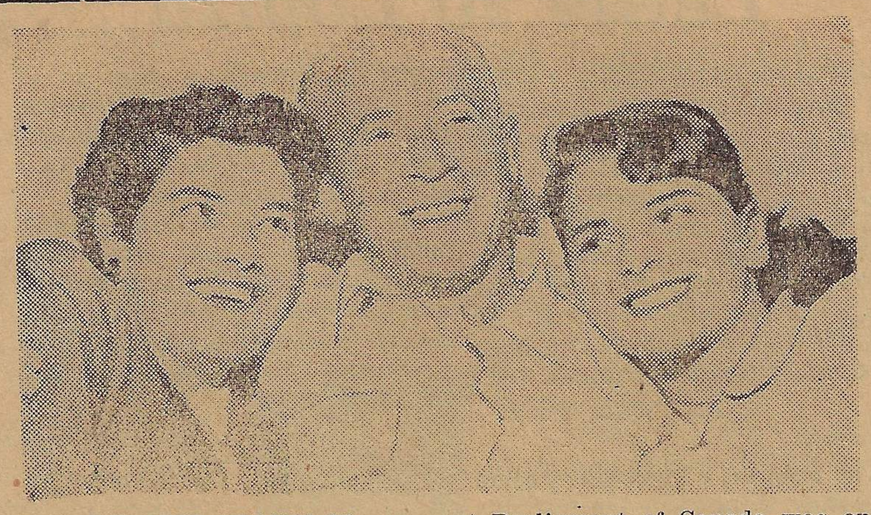

Then breaks the crashing fatal shot
Alas! the lordly moose is dead
Brought, down, through instinct of his lot.
No more to circle back track bed.

The hunter happy in his kill,
Full well, his family be fed
But watches he, that red coat skill
Will not outwit him in his stead.

For white man's law spreads every where
An Indian Brave no more, but just
A poacher now, contempt must bear
Content himself with any crust.

His ancient glory and the plains
For barren rock and muskeg changed
Nor cares he now, if they but leave
The last of natures realms unchanged.

The world's first streamlined ferryboat, the Kalakala, built in 1935 at the Lake Washington shipyards in Seattle, was put into operation between Seattle and Bremerton.

WILL HE RUN AGAIN? The present Parliament of Canada was only elected in June, 1949, and can stay in power another two and a half yeras if the Liberal party decides to wait that long for a new election. But current talk is rife about a June, 1952 election and speculation about candidates in Quebec involves Fred Rose, Communist. Rose has just been released from jail and is free to run for Parliament again as a free citizen.

Movie Producer Hits New High In Making Blood-Curdling Shows

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Shades of Boris Karloff!

Out at Universal-International —offspring of the Universal studio that produced some of the blood-curdlingest movies of all time—a man named Victor Jory has drawn a pair of screen roles so villainous that the film editors voted him "Man of Extinction for 1951."

Jory reaches a new high—or is it a new low—for ruthlessness in "Son of Ali Baba," Technicolor opus starring Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie. As the Caliph of Bagdad in this film, Jory is responsible for more than a score of deaths.

That represents considerable progress from his previous picture for the same studio, another Technicolor effort entitled "Cave of Outlaws." In that one, Jory, "The Sneer," arranged for the snuffing out of half a dozen lives.

Jory began acting in 1919. He estimates that during his entire acting career he has brought an end to the earthly existence of no less than 2,500 celluloid victims, and about 200 stage characters.

SECOND CAREER

He has had two distinct stage careers and now is working on his second movie career, as well. After appearing in theatres all over the United States and becoming the highest-paid actor in stock, Jory began his first motion picture career in 1932. It lasted 10 years.

He went back to the stage and did not make another picture for five full years. In 1947 he came back to the screen.

Retired Jeweller Makes Country's Smallest Museum

PETROLIA, Ont., Oct. 17.—Arthur Darling, 80-year-old retired jeweller, has painstakingly built a tiny museum on the shore of Lake Huron, which he believes is the smallest in Canada.

The museum almost delivered itself to his door, he said. His summer cottage lies snug among the pine groves of the shore and several years ago, during a bad storm, a large cabin cruiser was wrecked opposite the house.

Darling bought the cruiser from an insurance firm, hauled it ashore, did some patching and repairing and then started putting in shelves and cases.

The museum specialized neither in historic nor natural objects, but combines the two. Most of the items were collected more or less at random, and visitors read in the display hours of leisurely strolling and musing through woods and by waters.

There are stones, smooth and shiny, fashioned by the lake waves. There are curious branches and twigs, formed by nature into interesting pieces of design. One exhibit consists of wood containing letters of the alphabet formed by trees.

To Resume Defence Courses In Spring

Civil defence courses will be resumed at the Olds School of Agriculture early next spring.

The Alberta Civil Defence organization announced that Course No. two was completed recently. Between now and next spring the school will be occupied with its regular classes in agriculture and home economics.
